FLORIDA DEATH TOLL MOUNTING WITH REPORTS

Two Hundred May Have Died In Storm Which Swept State

COMMUNICATION IS BEING RESTORED

Twenty-Four Known dead In Okeechobee Region; Many Missing

BULLETIN

Miami, Fla., Sept. 19.—Three hundred and fifty seemed today a conservative estimate of the dead in the hurricane that swept across Florida Sunday, in opinion of relief workers.

Damage to a score of towns may run above $100,000,000.

The flooded districts along the shores of Lake Okeechobee yielded the heaviest toll.

At Pahokee the number of dead was placed at 200 by military and Red Cross officials.

At Belle Glade, 11 miles south, 70 were dead or missing and bodies were being retrieved hourly from the swollen canals and dikes of the Everglades.

More than 30 bodies. More than a dozen persons were known to have lost their lives in the coastal country around West Palm Beach.

"I am for Herbert Hoover and against Al Smith," declared Gifford Pinchot, former Governor of Pennsylvania, as he announced that he would stump for the Republican presidential candidate.

FOOD RIOT IN PORTO RICO IS RELIEF MENACE

Troops Patrol Sections Of San Juan; Baker Arrives

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 19.—Troops patrolled these devastated towns of the interior of Porto Rico which were accessible today to prevent starving inhabitants from looting the meagre food stores on hand while volunteer reserve officers delivered emergency supplies and surveyed the needs of the various towns.

Henry M. Baker, national director of disaster relief for the Red Cross, is directing the distribution of food. He arrived yesterday aboard the United States destroyer Gilder accompanied by five assistants.

According to the official records of San Juan's police department, 159 persons were killed, 332 were injured and three persons are missing in 37 towns of the island. Communication with 38 other towns on the island has not yet been completely established so that there is no official figure for their losses. It is feared, however, that casualties in these towns will bring the death toll to about 300.

CIGARET FUNDS SHOW INCREASE

Over Two Hundred Dollars Collected In Salem; $1,707 In County

With net receipts at $13,957.88 from the sale of cigarette licenses in Columbiana county for the fiscal year of '28-'29 a peak record has been attained. The state has been credited with $10,246.86 and the county with $1,707.80. The treasurer's and auditor's fee funds have each been credited with $295.40.

Seventy-five per cent of the tax collected is remitted to the state, and the remaining 25 per cent is divided between the general and the poor funds of the various taxing districts from which the tax is derived.

Municipal corporations have been credited with the following amounts: East Liverpool $604.16; Salem $246.13; Wellsville $195.49; East Palestine $114.77; Lisbon $127.51; Leetonia $53.14; Salineville $44.38; Columbiana $67.37; New Waterford $12.25; Hanoverton $12.16; Rogers $17.02.

Various townships have received the following credits: West $17.74; Middleton $39.13; St. Clair $20.53; Madison $21.67; Butler $22.95; Knox $19.88; Hanover $12.25; Washington $6.13; Center $12.25; Fairfield $6.12; Unity $6.13; Elkrun $16.99; Franklin $6.12; Perry $5.54.

The increase in the receipts from the sale of these licenses is attributed to the chain grocery stores selling this commodity.

AL SMITH RAPS REPUBLICANS ON FARM POLICIES

Democratic Chief Scores Hoover and Coolidge For Stand

PROMISES RELIEF FROM DEMOCRATS

Eight Thousand People In Hall To Hear Governor Of New York

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 19.—Gov. Al Smith was back in his familiar role of a slashing, fighting, aggressive campaigner.

His first big speech in which he was satirical and sarcastic over the Coolidge-Hoover record on farm relief, the Democratic nominee turned southward toward Oklahoma to continue carrying war into the corn and wheat country.

Gov. Smith fed the fires of Republican discord in the grain belt by his Omaha speech last night. And at the same time he went a long way toward meeting the demands of the western farm organizations that for two years have solidly backed and bitterly fought for the McNary-Haugen bill.

Endorses Bill

Without mentioning the famous equalization fee by name, Gov. Smith did endorse the fundamental principle of it. And that was what the farm leaders wanted to hear.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Gov. Al Smith's farm speech in Omaha drew a reply today from Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"Gov. Smith's speech last night is to a considerable degree based upon misquotations or distortions of quotations from Hoover and the Republican platform," said Work.

"Gov. Smith displays remarkable ignorance of some fundamental facts.

"Candidate Smith carefully avoids stating that he is for the equalization fee, although he says he has a 4-square plain program."

Eight thousand people, all that could be squeezed into Omaha's auditorium, came to their feet with a roar of approval when the governor boldly flung a challenge to Secretary Hoover to politically go to the mat with him on the issue in the Middle West.

As for his own position, he outlined it thus:

"Various people have attempted to misrepresent and confuse my attitude with respect to the McNary-Haugen bill. I do not propose to (Continued on Page 4)

Quota Club Accepts Canton Invitation

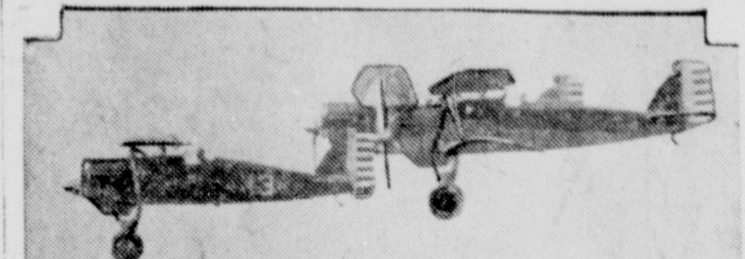

Meeting Tuesday evening at the Elks club the Quota club accepted an invitation from the Canton Quota club to a party Monday evening, Sept. 24, at the Woman's club.

The club announces that it has been fortunate in securing Graham McNamee, well known radio announcer and entertainer to give an entertainment here on next Feb. 7, in the High school auditorium.

Worker Explains Process Of Pottery Making To Crowd

Impromptu Discussion at Industrial Display Proves Interesting To Those Who Failed To Realize Salem's Part In China Production

"I'm the fellow that glazes all the chinaware you see in that display there."

This was interesting. Several persons gathered about the man.

"A person never realizes all the processes that a cup or saucer and all the rest of the utensils he eats his daily meals from, must go through before they are ready for use in the home. They all take it as a matter of fact, and use them without thinking about them," he continued.

"That's so," the interested listeners agreed.

"Every bit of china has its individual processes. There you see the five processes a bowl goes through. It is moulded, baked, glazed, baked again, and then the painting or fancy trimmings placed on it, and it is baked again. All ware is given three bakings. The gold you see on the handles is 22-carat, and is on the cups permanently. It is regular lead gold, placed on the handles, and then burnished to give it that shiny color."

The pottery worker who was giving the explanation of the chinaware was by this time surrounded with quite an audience.

"This was all news to them. Formerly a cup was a cup and a plate a plate—more than that about them they knew little. He was asked where the clay for the ware was obtained.

"Some of it comes from England, five kinds in fact are found across the ocean. Other kinds are obtained from other sections of America. None is mined near Salem."

This discussion was one of the many started around Salem's industrial exhibit in the display windows of the Reichart Furniture company, 30-32 Main st., which is proving of so much interest to residents.

Mayor Phil G. Hiddleston today made the statement that he believed that the display of the Salem-made products for the two days, has aroused more interest in the city's industries than has been created in the past 10 years. He said:

"In order to appreciate Salem, people must know Salem first. As that sign says, 'Salem is a good town to live, buy and work in,' there are (Continued on Page 4)

TEACHER ADDED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Wesleyan Graduate Will Teach Economics In Salem

Miss Ruth Workman, Poland, was added to the Salem high school faculty in a special meeting of the board of education last night due to the number of students enrolled in school this year.

Miss Workman was assigned as teacher of home economics. She is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan.

W. J. Springer today stated that another increase in the high school enrollment was made this week, bringing the total up to 633.44 more than were in the school last year and the greatest number ever registered in the institution. Due to this increase the new teacher was necessary.

The contract for the construction of entrance and exit gates at Reilly stadium was let by the board to the Stuart Iron Works, of Cincinnati. The Stuart company offered the low bid for the contract, $468.75.

Material for the gates will be sent to Salem within the next 10 days and work start on their construction as soon as all equipment is received.

Contract for installation of electrical fixtures at the new Reilly grade school was awarded to A. D. McFarren, of Salem.

Jawarski Hovering Near Death, Report

Cleveland, Sept. 19.—Though physicians said they expected death momentarily, Paul Jawarski, jail breaker and murderer, was still alive in City hospital here today.

Jawarski was wounded and captured last Thursday after a gun battle in which he killed one policeman and wounded two other men. Thirteen months ago he shot his way out of the county jail at Pittsburgh, where he was under conviction for first degree murder.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Billy Ranieri, 10-year-old kidnaped Italian boy, who for 13 days was held hostage by a band of Sicilian, extortionists, under death threats, for a ransom of $60,000, was today restored unharmed to the arms of his frenzied parents.

At an early hour this morning Billy was discovered by George Mats, gasoline station attendant, while trudging along a deserted highway near Lockport, five miles north of Joliet, Ill.

Billy was taken to Lockport in a machine by four men. On the dark road outside of the village, they halted the car and one of the men put a $10 bill in the boy's hand.

WATER - SEWER POWER COMBINE REPORT GIVEN

Council Approves Outline In Combination Of Plants

ORDINANCE IS BEING PREPARED

Adler Quizzes On City Equipment Now In Waterworks

Council, in its meeting Tuesday night, took action on the proposed combination of the waterworks pumping station and the sewage disposal plant and approved a written report of the water committee, which recommended the project that it is said will save the city approximately $10,000 a year.

The action taken by council was based on this favorable report of the water committee, which was delegated four weeks ago as an investigating committee to study the proposition.

Draft Ordinance

Solicitor Scott was instructed to prepare an ordinance and have it at the next meeting ready for action, as the committee wished to rush legislation on the project.

Councilman P. J. Dean, chairman, and Councilmen George Slocum and W. U. Filler, of the committee reported that their study of the proposition had resulted in the opinion that the move in combining the two plants will tend toward the efficient operation of both and effect a justifiable saving to the city.

The suggestion for the combination was made to council four weeks ago by Engineer P. S. Barckhoff, who gave council a survey of a study made by his office at the request of Service Director C. A. Cavanaugh. The engineer stated in this survey that the proposed plan would operate both plants from one point at an estimated cost of $23,900 a year, while the approximate total cost of operating the plants from different sites would amount to $34,000.

According to Barckhoff's plans, the city need issue no bonds for the purchase of new equipment should the combination go through, and will not be placed further in debt. Instead, the entire cost will be placed on the water department.

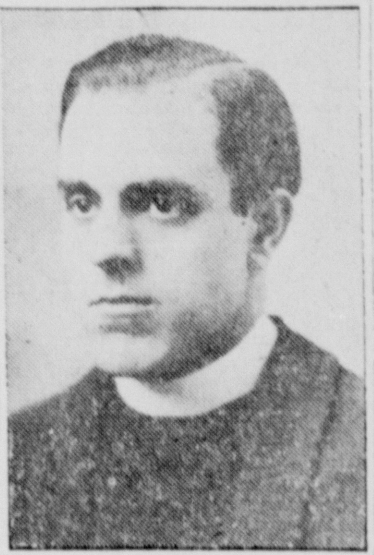

The water department will be forced to issue them and pay off at maturity. This, due to the elimination of the sewer rental assessment, will mean a savings to taxpayers.

Rush Legislation

Included in last night's water committee report was the recommendation that council rush legislation for an appropriation of $27,500 for the purchase of a new air compressor, the purchase of all necessary motors to equip the waterworks at the new disposal plant, the building of an airline to the disposal plant, and purchasing and installation of automatically controlled pumps at the present waterworks.

The purchase of a new compressor for the waterworks has been pointed out as a future necessity by (Continued on Page 5)

Discusses Dreamers In Club Talk

REV. GEORGE KEISTER

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK BY PASTOR

Rev. Keister Gives Club Message on "The Man On the Fence"

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of Holy Trinity English Lutheran church, drew a word picture of "The Man on the Fence" in an interesting talk before the Salem Rotary club at its meeting Tuesday in the Elks home.

A picture of a man on a fence, gazing dreamily into space, which Rev. Mr. Keister saw in a window, gave him the idea for the message which he gave to the Rotarians. He said that in every plant and office and every vocation in life there are to be found men on the fence, dreaming of advancement but content to sit and wait for opportunities instead of applying themselves.

"The men on the fence" lacks duty, the speaker declared. He also lacks decision in life and the spirit of despair, an essential in life which he said spurs men on and forces them out of despair to greater heights.

Rev. Mr. Keister's talk was listened to intently by the Rotarians. He was introduced to the club by Rev. Arthur M. Clarke, pastor of First Baptist church.

John Crawford, a member of the Columbiana Rotary club, extended an invitation to the Salem Rotarians to attend a joint meeting of Columbiana, Salem and Wellsville clubs, to be held at Columbiana Monday night, Oct. 1. The invitation was accepted. Guy Bingham, formerly superintendent of Lisbon schools, now on the lecture platform, will speak at this inter-city meeting.

Stand On Prohibition Is Reason; Salem Pastor Attending

Lorain, O., Sept. 19.—With the relations committee of the Northeast Ohio Methodist Episcopal church conference in session behind closed doors, drawing up resolutions which, reports say, will endorse the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for president, and his stand on the prohibition issue, the conference was in the second formal session of its seven day meeting here today.

A proposal for a pastors' pension fund was the chief topic of discussion on the conference floor. Decision as to whether the drive to raise $1,000,000 for Ohio Wesleyan university, at Delaware, will start this fall or next spring was not reached at this morning's session.

Dr. William O. Thompson, former president of Ohio State university, Dr. Harold E. Lucecock, of the Yale Divinity college, and Dr. Rheinhold Neibaur, were among the speakers on today's program.

Delegates are in attendance from Salem, Mansfield, Canton, Cleveland, Cambridge, Steubenville, Youngstown, Akron, and Norwalk.

Bishop Theodore E. Henderson, chairman of the conference, in referring to the presidential campaign said, "we are not here to take politics into the church, but we will take religion into politics."

SALEM'S INDUSTRIES

An enterprising Salem merchant has enlisted the co-operation of Salem manufacturers in placing on exhibition in his store windows an attractive display of several of the varied products of factories in this city. The result is both educational and interesting. The display has attracted hundreds of Salem residents, many of whom take pride in seeing exhibited publicly the results of their daily labors. Others have been amazed to see the varied and useful products of Salem's leading factories. Some time ago when The News presented a series of articles dealing with the diversified industries of the city a great majority of the people of this city realized for the first time how little they actually knew about what the men in the factories were producing.

The diversity of Salem's manufactured products has been the stabilizing factor in periods of more or less general industrial depression elsewhere over the country. It has provided rather steady employment for Salem men year after year. It has been one of the biggest assets in the growth and prosperity of the city. Salem-made goods find their way to markets throughout the world and have advertised this thriving little city far and near.

Little wonder, then, that Salem people feel a thrill of pride when they view a display of the latest products of their manufacturing plants. It is justifiable pride, too, for Salem manufacturers have kept abreast of the times and today are producing the latest designs in all their varied lines.

MEXICO AGAIN

A "new era" they call it—the present state of affairs in Mexico, and certainly it is that beyond the Rio Grande when a president who could easily have constitutional limitations set aside and himself continued in office declares for their maintenance. What is more, the army, at least the leaders, concur in his decision.

There may be some cause for comment upon Calles' decision that it is time for Mexico "to make a decided and final effort to pass from the category of a people and government of a dictator to the higher, more dignified, more useful and more civilized (page Signor Mussolini) condition of a nation of institutions and laws." Few indeed of the past presidents of Mexico have thought such a course desirable.

Whether Calles' successor will take so magnanimous a position remains to be seen. The thirst for power is hard to slake. With all too many leaders among our Latin neighbors it grows with its possession. Calles may well say: "I consider it necessary to pass from a system of government by one man to a government of institutions." But the next to hold the reins may think otherwise. We find both hope and fear in his statement that it is his remotest intention to abandon civil duties and retire from the life of struggle and responsibility which, he says, is the lot of every soldier.

Hope rests in his ability as a respected citizen to help carry on the plan suggested; our fear, that any dictation from the ranks may ferment more of the troubles which have torn Mexico for generations. Perhaps Mexico needs a benevolent dictator to keep her ship of state on an even keel until the forces of enlightenment get more strongly entrenched. Mexico is certainly on the upgrade.

What Others Say

NINETY-TWO KNOTS AN HOUR
To the thousands of Washingtonians who watched Gar Wood, the famous speed boat pilot, flash over the waters of the Potomac at a 75-mile-an-hour rate in the President's Cup regatta here a year ago, the feat of his brother, George, in Detroit when he drove the Miss America VII, a boat almost identical with that which appeared here, at 92 knots an hour, snatching all previous records, will be of surpassing interest. And when it is realized that the Miss America VII, which bettered by more than 12 miles the previous speed mark, was built in 14 days and powered by two motors which had been salvaged from the bottom of the Detroit river after they had literally torn themselves out of the hull of the America VI, the palm must be extended to the Wood brothers for being the most eminent designers and pilots in speed craft that this country, or any other, has ever known.

Ninety-two knots is approximately 100 land miles and such speed on the water involves all the hazards that 150 miles an hour would in an automobile. For many years it was the ambition of the Woods to attain a mile-a-minute rate on the water, but their desire was thwarted when boat after boat failed them. It has only been in a comparatively recent period that this mark has been reached, but once attained the Woods have pushed steadily forward to new world speeds. They have now set their goal at 100 knots an hour, and if yesterday's showing is any criterion it is almost within their reach.—Washington Star.

THE PEACE OF THE STOMACH

The League to Ban Banquets, which has just been formed in Paris is sure to obtain adherence of all the nations signatory to the Kellogg peace treaties. It pledges its members to abstain from public banquets, and, ipso facto, no longer to encourage after-dinner speaking. The presumption is that this will be a great step toward maintaining the peace of the stomach throughout the world.

It is barely conceivable that Mr. Kellogg's refusal to permit a general indulgence in post-prandial oratory at the dinners which he attended in Paris—a step absolutely unprecedented in international affairs—may have emboldened the founders of the new league to make their project public. But the cause assigned for the formation of this new organization have been of a strictly utilitarian nature. Experience has shown, in France, that banquets place too great a strain on the digestion and the purse. Americans can readily testify to the soundness of these arguments. To pay many dollars for the privilege of having many courses served and to hear many speakers precede too many guests of honor usually distresses the human machine in many of its parts. The professional banqueters now realize that the only safe method is to eat nothing, and to arrive after the chairman has had a full hour in which to make the guest of honor's speech for him. He thus is there in time to enjoy the advantages without the handicaps of the banquet.—New York Times.

SPIRITUAL WELFARE
RESTS ON PHYSICALBy Royal S. Copeland, M. D.
United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

Why do people get cross? If you were a preacher what advice would you give your congregation on this subject? Would you recommend anything besides prayer and Bible study?

DR. COPELAND

It is my feeling, sometimes, that all of us preachers are apt to forget the place of the human body in the scheme of salvation. "The body is the temple of the soul," we are told. Just what does this mean? You wouldn't think much of a farmer who let his barn roof get leaky. The rain comes through and rots the hay. This essential feed for the horses gets musty or sour. It loses its value as food.

What would you say about a Jew who left a big hole in his show window? Through it he would lose his stock of valuables.

A diseased and broken body will result in damage to the soul residing in it. By God's grace the dwarfed and undeveloped spirit of the man may rise on wings of usefulness and give service in spite of the handicap of a body's neglect. But who can doubt that had the temple of the body been kept in perfect order the soul and spirit dwelling therein would have come in richer fruition?

This may sound like "high-brow" stuff, but I believe it just the same. I think preachers should tell their congregations that God does not smile on wilful neglect of the body. In my opinion, the time will surely come when men and women will be ashamed to admit that they are ill. Too many sicknesses are the absolute fault of the victims. Why should we neglect to preach this fact?

You see I do not seek to avoid my own responsibility. Let no preacher get mad at me because I am talking this way. I, too, am a preacher. Everybody is, whether his audience occupies the pews or reads the papers, sits in the school seats or listens to the radio. Everybody who preaches to an audience through any medium is a preacher and he is not true to his trust unless he urges right living, right eating, right thinking.

The truth shall set men free and only by knowing and practicing the right can we expect to go far in this world or to the world to come. First of such truths is the necessity for a whole and perfectly functioning body. When we have that we are not likely to be cross, evil-minded or given to wickedness.

A DAY of radical and conflicting occurrences is forecast from the contradictory positions of most powerful planets. Although great and unusual advantages are prognosticated from the trine aspect of Luna to Uranus, the orb of the sudden and unexpected, the conjunction of Saturn and the Moon may be expected to wield a retarding and obstructing force. There may be postponements and obstacles, but with patience and persistence splendid benefits may mature.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which there may be some contradictory situations, with stubborn obstacles to overcome or postponements, but attended by excellent opportunities of an entirely unforeseen nature and which may involve radical change or travel. It is advised that caution be exercised in signing all writings. A child born on this day may have many brilliant talents and at the same time be industrious and practical.

GIRL RETURNS TO FACE TRIAL

"Hitch-Hiker" Who Killed Man Tells Of Attack

Akron, Sept. 19.—Loveda Boyle, 18, the red haired girl "hitch hiker" who has admitted that she shot and fatally wounded Robert McCormick, 31, Akron automobile salesman, last Friday, will return here voluntarily for a second degree murder trial.

Prosecutor Oscar Hunsicker said today that attorneys for the girl, who is at her home in Oil City, Pa., had notified him that they would not resist tradition and that Miss Boyle would come here immediately and surrender to police.

After obtaining a divorce from her husband in Oklahoma, the young woman started to "hitch-hike" back to her home in Oil City. Early Friday morning she was picked up near the city limits here in an automobile occupied by A. J. Ritchie, a merchant, and McCormick.

Boyle was driving and the girl sat between the two. They had driven a short distance when McCormick began to make improper advances, according to the young woman's story. She warned him, she said, that she carried a revolver and would shoot if he did not cease molesting her.

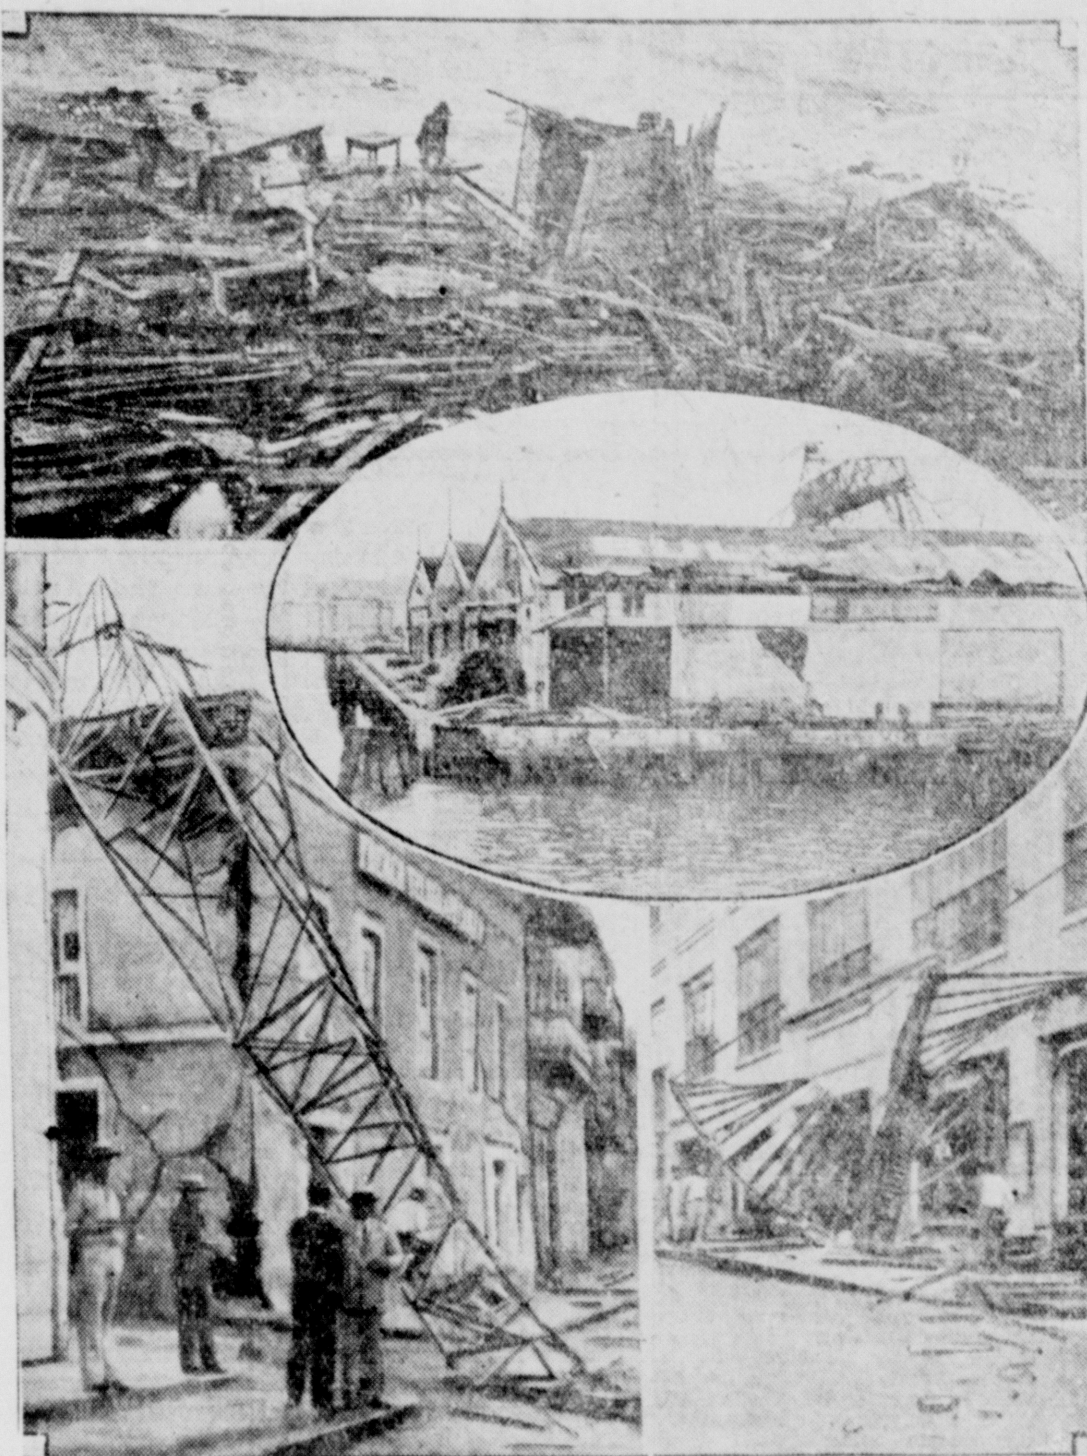

"All right, I'll call your bluff," McCormick is reported to have answered.

Ritchie says the two struggled. He heard a shot, stopped the car, and ordered the girl to get out. He then brought McCormick to the hospital here where he died, with a bullet wound in his abdomen, Saturday.

Miss Boyle said she had intended to shoot McCormick in the leg, and did not think she had hurt him seriously. On learning that he was dead she immediately admitted the shooting from her home in Oil City. Though given "lifts" by more than a dozen men through her trip from Oklahoma, this was the only instance in which she was seriously molested, she related.

On arriving in Akron the young woman will be arraigned in municipal court on the second degree murder charge which stands against her and will be held for trial later.

STUDIO THEATER CLOSES TONIGHT

Salem Thespians to End Present Production; More Later

The Salem Studio theater will close its first successful production of a stage play in this city tonight, with the final showing of the one-act farce comedy, "These Women" at the Grand theater.

The play is a humorous affair showing the idiosyncrasies of married women pertaining to originality in clothes, and the jealousy that is caused when another woman adopts their style of apparel. Out of the jealousy of one woman over another's act in copying her hat, grows matrimonial troubles which threaten the happiness of three families. An all-Salem cast is starred in the play.

William B. Dendrier is starred as an innocent husband who becomes infatuated with another woman, Grace Windram, who is married to a successful lawyer, Alton Allen. Elizabeth Riddle is Dendrier's wife, while Mildred Cope enacts the role of Jane Kerr, a young wife who leads Allen on and gives him wide evidence for a divorce suit. Betty Jones is the "fixer" of the play, aiding Allen in unweaving the complexities which he gets into when Dendrier traps him in an effort to get Miss Windram to divorce him.

This play, which has proved a great success, will be followed by stage plays of greater length, and probably two will be given every month, Marion Cox, who directed "These Women" announced today.

SCIENCE PROVES MURDER THEORY

Slayer of Boys Sought In Canada; May Pose As Girl

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 19.—Substantiation in part of young Sanford Clark's monstrous story of slaying four boys on a "murder train" near Riverside, Cal., was made today when scientists identified human remains.

Complaints against Stewart Northcott, 21, suspected of their deaths have been sworn to.

Indications that young Northcott, being sought in Canada was masquerading as a woman were seen in a report from Saskatoon, Sask., Can., declaring that Mrs. Northcott and her "daughter" had left a hotel here for Vancouver, B. C.

Identification of the "Mexican youth" whose body was recently found and who was believed another Northcott victim, was nearer when the father of young Northcott told authorities that a Filipino once employed on the ranch had disappeared.

Police were today conducting a far futile search for two entire families. The Dahl family and the Hunt family, both having young sons, were once employed on the Northcott chicken ranch but have since vanished.

Vivid Account Of Hurricane Given By Weather Observer

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 19.—An eyewitness account of the destruction wrought here by the West Indian hurricane was given today by E. E. Cook, a broker.

"The weather forecaster and I were watching the barometer, and he called: 'It dropped steadily until it reached 27.20—a figure unprecedented in local annals,'" said Cook.

"The wind had been blowing since noon Sunday at a steadily increasing velocity. About 5 o'clock puffs came that whirled in the center of the hurricane. 'These puffs are the destructive agents. The wind whistled shrilly, but the puffs uttered low, ominous roars. The whole joined into a wild crescendo in which there seemed to be a barbaric harmony.'

"As I watched, the wind caught hold of the roofing of the Alake Court apartments as a housewife shakes out a sheet. Finally it lifted it up and flung it aside. The wind sounded now like the rustle of a gigantic tarpaulin.

"Other roofs went sailing through the air. Debris of all sorts filled the air. The solid steel building in which we stood shook like a reed, but held staunchly. It was perhaps half an hour before the center of the hurricane had passed.

"It was not intense all the time, but came and went—in these tremendous puffs of wind that flung aside wood and brick as easily as a child topples his blocks."

CROWD ANGRY AT DRY AGENTS

Cleveland Police Called To Assist Federal Operatives

Cleveland, Sept. 19.—An angry crowd which collected as federal prohibition agents conducted a series of raids in the east end of town last night necessitated the calling out of police reserves and for a time threatened serious violence. The federal men conducted their raids in the same neighborhood where on Aug. 27 they discovered a ring of seven stills and dumped 29,000 gallons of liquor into the gutters. A crowd collected on that occasion and formed again when the agents reappeared late yesterday. Several shots were fired at the raiders and 30 policemen, armed with machine guns and sawed-off shotguns were rushed to the scene. No further trouble resulted. The agents discovered and confiscated several stills.

AUTO FOUND AT PRECIPICE FOOT

Wreckage May Clear Up Mystery Surrounding Disappearance

Los Angeles, Sept. 19.—The mystery of the disappearance of Albert La Huis, retired banker of Zeeland, Mich., and his wife, approached solution today, following the discovery on the Ridge Route Highway, 74 miles north of here, of a wrecked automobile, containing a body believed to be that of the missing capitalist. The machine had plunged down a 1,000-foot precipice at the side of the road.

Deputy sheriffs, under whose direction the man's body was extricated from the wreckage, reported that a second body, that of a woman, was also there.

Although no indication of a third body was noted by searchers, it is nevertheless believed likely that the remains of Fred J. Walter of La Jolla, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. La Huis, when they were last seen, may also be contained in the wreckage.

Candidate Dies

Chardon, Sept. 19.—Fred Hinkston, 70, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, is dead today of injuries suffered late yesterday when he was hit by a "hit-skip" automobile driver while walking along the highway between Parkman and Troy. Hinkston was found unconscious in a ditch, with broken ribs and legs.

Truck Kills Boy

Dayton, Sept. 19.—Norman Davis, 10, was dead here today, the result of injuries sustained when he was struck by a truck yesterday. Witnesses declared the accident to have been unavoidable.

AL SMITH

leave the slightest doubt in anybody's mind on the subject.

"As I read the McNary-Haugen bill, its fundamental purpose is to establish an effective control of the sale of exportable surplus with the cost imposed upon the commodity benefited. For that principle the Democratic platform squarely stands, and for that principle I squarely stand."

Mr. Hoover stands squarely opposite to this principle by which the farmer could get the benefit of the tariff. What remains of the McNary-Haugen bill is a mere matter of method."

Calling both Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover by name, he accused the president, in effect, of "gold-bricking" the farmer throughout the administration, and declared that Mr. Hoover proposed to continue that policy.

Agriculture, he said, was sick in 1924 and the Republicans "solemnly" promised to put agriculture on a basis of economic equality with industry. He read it from the Republican platform of 1924, and then read the identical phrase in the platform of 1928.

"In other words," he said, "having promised it four years ago and having failed to deliver, the only thing left to do was to promise it again."

Not only have Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover failed to bring forth an adequate program to meet this problem, he declared, but "they have opposed every comprehensive measure for farm relief proposed by others."

In his best satirical vein, Gov. Smith read that portion of President Coolidge's message to congress in which he said that the administration had "constant solicitude and sympathy" for the farm belt.

"All I got was sympathy," said the governor, paraphrasing the old song.

"They have been fooling the farmer. They have not been on the level with him. They have not been four-square. They have not told him the truth."

Crops Surplus
Gov. Smith said, is the whole nubbin of the farm relief problem, or, as he expressed it, "the nigger in the woodpile."

"And what has Candidate Hoover said concerning this?" the governor asked. "In 1924, he said surpluses could only be corrected by having prices low enough to make production unprofitable. I have a reasonably fair understanding of the English language for a man who did not get much time to read it out of books. This is what it means: Beat the prices down so low and starve out so many farmers that those who are strong enough to last probably will get something."

The governor did not leave Omaha without expressing himself on prohibition. It was voluntary on his part.

"Do you believe the country will be more prosperous with liquor or without?"

Question Complex
"Nobody could answer that question," said the governor, "for there never has been liquor out of this country."

The third question was: Do you believe that liquor is the great issue in this campaign?

"I certainly do not," he said. "The fourth question was: How can you square your support of Democratic candidates for congress pledged against liquor with what you say you will do for liquor?"

"All that a president can do," he replied, "is to recommend to congress, and he can assume the leadership of the American people in an effort to show them his recommendation is right. That is what I propose to do."

"The Democratic convention left every Democrat in the United States free to express his own individual opinion of what he thought on the subject."

Business and Professional Women Favor Hoover, Says Miss Stewart, Chosen to Lead Them in Campaign

MISS MARY STEWART

Of interest to business and professional women of the country is the announcement that Miss Mary Stewart of Boston will conduct the Hoover-Curtis campaign within their ranks.

Miss Stewart's appointment as head of that department of the women's division of the Republican National committee was made recently by Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, national vice chairman. As former dean of women at the University of Montana, as an organizer of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, and as the assistant director, for seven years, of the U. S. employment service of the department of labor, in charge of work for juniors, Miss Stewart is known among women from coast to coast.

Miss Stewart says she believes women of her occupational group already are wholeheartedly for Hoover and that her duties will consist largely of organizing them to work for his election among other women with whom they come in contact.

"We want Herbert Hoover for president," she says, "because he brings to our peculiar problems a rare understanding and tested skill. He has worked as an individual and with large organizations. He knows the problems of business and industry and offers practical solutions for them. Business women know that he can and will help them. They want him for president because he is a man in whom they put implicit trust."

came, according to officials of fruit growers exchanges, who, after tours of the orange and grape fruit belt, have estimated a damage of 20 per cent to the grape fruit and 10 per cent to the orange crop.

Railroad, telephone and telegraph services were rapidly being restored, and schedules generally were being observed on all rail lines out of Jacksonville, with precautionary orders to proceed slowly until all danger had passed.

EVERGLADES SEA

The storm overtook us. The hurricane proper, though, did not hit the train. I could feel the train rock, but the conductor told us that that was caused by heavy rains weakening the road bed.

H. C. Miller, who is with the Atlantic Coast line, told me as I entered the train at Sarasota that he had been notified that persons had lost their lives in the Palm Beaches, and that streams of refugees had started pouring inland in the wake of the storm.

"Hundreds of residents who had been made homeless by the storm were being herded into tourist parks."

"On our way to Jacksonville the rain came down in torrents. Trees were down all along the tracks, and the train stopped. I could look out of the coach window and see many persons wading in water up to their waists. Automobiles along the highways were almost covered by the water."

Brown said:

"Work in reclaiming the dead in the Florida hurricane" already is well under way. At every station the train made there would be persons awaiting with stories about victims. They told of bodies floating about in the waters and thousands of persons who still are missing. Many of them, I believe, eventually turn up, as they are rescued alive but cannot be accounted for because some communities are isolated by the storm."

Judging by the great number of missing reports which now are circulating in the death toll probably will be near the 200 mark."

SHIPS SCURRY INTO SHELTER

Storm Lashes Virginia, Then Dashes Toward Atlantic Ocean

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 19.—A howling gale, the last of the destructive West Indian hurricane ripped through this section today on its way to the sea.

Communication lines were badly crippled. Shipping was paralyzed in the harbor. Portions of the waterfront section of the city were flooded.

J. H. Wright was killed when the wind blew him directly into the path of an oncoming trolley car.

The wind velocity off Cape Henry and Cape Hatteras was variously estimated at from 70 to 75 miles an hour.

The naval recruiting fleet, back from southern maneuvers, was tied up in Hampton Roads for safety. The harbor was lined with ships which rushed from the sea for protection.

Communication with the outside world was possible only through a devious route. Calls between here and Washington were routed via Philadelphia thence south through Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. The regular telephone circuit through Richmond was cut between Richmond and Norfolk.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 19.—Portions of North and South Carolina were isolated today as result of the lashing by the Florida hurricane which swept along the coast northward to Virginia and the sea.

Torrential rains accompanied the storm and many rivers reached flood stage.

Highways were blocked, roofs and small buildings were blown away, and considerable damage was feared to the cotton and other crops.

There was no loss of life.

Goldboro, Tarboro, Wilson, Fayetteville, and Rocky Mount, N. C., and Suffolk, Va., bore the brunt of the storm as it passed this section.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The national capital caught the tail end of the Florida hurricane today.

A cold rain was whipped and blown by a brisk wind, which, however, caused only slight damage to property.

Weather Bureau officials declared the entire eastern coast from Virginia northward have high winds, reaching gale force at some points.

Storm warnings were posted to Boston and shipping was cautioned.

New York, Sept. 19.—Strong winds and a chilly rain crawled up the North Atlantic coast today, giving New York and other cities a touch of the tail end of the southern hurricane.

A 70-mile gale was reported heading this way, Long Island, lying exposed to the sweep of the gale, set itself to meet it.

The weather bureau issued a storm warning, extending from Cape Hatteras, N. C., to Eastport, Maine.

"The storm is central between Raleigh and Cape Hatteras, and moving northeastward or possibly north northeastward," the warning said.

"Northeast winds will likely increase to whole gale force this afternoon and tonight. Continue northeast storm warning north of Provincetown to Boston and hoist northeast storm warning north of Boston to Eastport, Maine."

COUNCIL

The engineer, whether the combination is finally passed on or whether operation is continued at the present site.

Committee Members Speak
Dean in a statement before council said:

"We have all confidence in the engineer and the service department. These officers have from time to time given us every basis for this confidence, and we accept Barckhoff's report and see the combination of the plans as a financial betterment for our city."

"Through the operation of both plans we will not only accomplish for the city this savings of money, but we will also eliminate the sewer rental plan, which would have to be used in order to maintain the disposal plant from a separate point from the pumping station. We want to electrify our waterworks, and at the same time save money and eliminate the rental plan," he added.

Both members of his committee also spoke strongly for the combination. Councilman Max Adler, who at the first consideration of the plan stated that there was too much equipment at the old pumping station to be abandoned now, voted for the acceptance of the committee's recommendations, but declared that he would not vote towards it favorable again unless the engineer and service director made public statements as to the future of the present equipment. He said:

Asks of Old Plant
"The old plant has worked in excellent manner for years. We have just added new equipment to the plant, and it must be taken care of in the proper manner. There is more than $100,000 worth of equipment in the plant, and it must not be abandoned."

To this the members of the committee also offered argument. Councilman declared:

"The whole proposition is suggested with the view of saving the city money. Every day new equipment is abandoned for something still better, and Salem must progress."

According to the plans offered by Barckhoff, the old plant will not be abandoned, but will be used as a standby for use in emergencies. In case of a shutdown of the new plant, the old station could be placed into operation at a minute's notice.

No provision was made regarding the manufacture of power at the new plants. Electricity will either be purchased or manufactured. This matter was continued by the water committee for further study with the rest of council.

The water committee's report follows in full:

"The following is our recommendation upon the report recently submitted by the service department contemplating the combining of the present waterworks and the new sewage treatment plant."

"It is our opinion that such a move as this is one which will tend both toward the efficient operation of both plants and effect a justifiable savings in the cost of operation to warrant the move."

"Inasmuch as this report covered two distinct propositions we shall consider them separately."

"First—Our recommendation is to this council that they should immediately pass the necessary legislation which will create an appropriation of $27,500 for the purpose of purchasing a new air compressor, the building of an airline to the disposal plant, the purchase and installation of automatically controlled pumps at the present waterworks, and purchasing the necessary meters and any other necessary expenses for the complete control of the waterworks at the new disposal plant. In making this recommendation we have born in mind that the equipment at the present pumping station will still be a standby to the new pumping outfit. Also that the money for this project shall be paid out of savings affected through the operation of the waterworks."

"Second—It is our recommendation regarding the manufacture of power at this plant that at this time we give this portion of the project further consideration. We shall therefore report on this second item at a later date."

Popuar Trees Rapped By Sebring Solons

Sebring, O., Sept. 19.—City officials are planning to start enforcing an old city ordinance which prohibits the growing of poplar trees in the vicinity of the storm sewer system. August Unger, street commissioner, claims that these trees are the cause of most of the city's sewer troubles because their long roots grow into the sewers and clog up the passages. Unger has been attempting to have the nuisance eliminated for some time.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish in this way, to thank our friends and neighbors, for their sympathy, and beautiful flower offerings, also all who have in any way given us their assistance in our late bereavement. Also the minister for his comforting words.

FILM STANDARDS ALL CHANGED IN TALKING MOVIES

Newest Entertainment Is Hardship On Studio Technicians

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 19. — Few people outside the film industry can realize how completely the advent of the talking picture has changed the standards of screen production, or what a revolutionary effect the innovation has had upon the entire business aspect of film-making. The motion picture is in the throes of a mighty and sudden change.

We are now able to approach the situation without the necessity of guessing at its outcome. Two years ago when Warner Bros. began alone to pioneer in the field of the talking picture, we were sustained only by our faith in its future. Now we know that the sound film has been accepted by the public with an enthusiasm that definitely takes it out of the experimental class and establishes it as the type of entertainment which fully meets the desires of the theater-going public.

600 Houses Ready
Six hundred theaters are already equipped for the exhibition of talking pictures, and additional installations are being made throughout the country with the greatest possible speed. Impressed by the remarkable reception accorded the patented apparatus we use, producers are spending millions of dollars in the construction of sound-proof stages and in the perfection of equipment for making talking pictures.

Warner Bros. have been using the first three "sound stages" ever constructed. Now we have just completed the fourth at a cost of more than $300,000—by far the largest structure of its kind in the industry, and measuring 203 by 299 feet. Within 60 days a fifth stage, of the same dimensions as the last, will be in operation.

A visit to a sound stage is apt to upset one's previous ideas of motion picture production. During the making of a "silent" picture, many noises are heard. The cameras' whirr as they photograph the action; the director keeps up a running fire of instructions and suggestions to the players; perhaps a number of carpenters are hammering on another part of the stage, or another company is at work only a few feet away; the studio are lights hiss and sputter; people walk across the stage, intent on various errands; numerous "little" noises come in from outside—the rattle of passing trucks, the singing of birds, the shouts of boys playing in the street.

MAN HELD FOR MURDER FREED

Coroner Returns Accident Death Verdict After Long Inquiry

Ottawa, O., Sept. 19.—Oscar McCamey, 25, farmhand, was free here today following the verdict of "accidental death" rendered this morning by Peter D. Bixel in the case of Mrs. Mary Hemler, 20, comely divorcee, whose body was found in Blanchard river near Gilboa last Wednesday.

McCamey has been held as a material witness and on suspicion of having been implicated in the woman's death.

It was at first believed that the woman had met with foul play at the hands of an unknown assailant. Credibility was lent this theory by the absence of water in the lungs.

LOANS up to $500

Money is like an umbrella — it is seldom there when you need it most. Imagine the embarrassment of "Society Sam" who took his lady-love out to dinner and, after the fifth and final course, reached in his pocket to pay the four-figure check and found only a corkscrew, a collar button and forty-two cents worth of street car tickets. And yet that's not as serious as being without money when the rent comes due, or when there are installment payments to be made or bills to be paid.

The City Loan has a lot of time and plenty of money for folks who are interested in getting along and who prefer to borrow in order to quickly dispose of such predicaments rather than to be bothered with them.

and the fact that her neck had been broken.
Coroner Bixel completed his inquest last night and with the announcement of his verdict this morning McCamey walked out of jail, a free man.

Girls Return Home

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 19.—A party of 100 southern girls, for the most part students at southern colleges and universities, have just returned from an 8,000-mile tour which began here June 23.

The last part of call for the girls was Berkeley, Calif., where they attended the summer session of the University of California.

WILD YOUTH OF NATION BLAMED ON CHILD LABOR

Professor Claims Results Follow Hard Working Of Children

Berkeley, Sept. 19.—A strong and undisciplined youthful urge finding expression in dance halls, movies and late parties is one of the out-croppings of our present system of child labor in the opinion of Dr. Richard A. Bolt, assistant professor of child hygiene and extension division lecturer of the University of California.

These manifestations of stifled impulses result in the draining of the energy and resistance which the normal adolescent who is employed should have at that time of his life, the professor believes.

Dr. Bolt asserts that the health hazards of child labor will be eliminated only when the child is emancipated from gainful employment.

Same Regulations
That same regulation of child labor is more imperative today than ever before because the child lives in a more complex world, is the emphatic opinion of the child specialist.

A heavy responsibility rests upon our public schools to see that children are physically fit to accept working conditions when they leave school, he declared.

"More than 1,000,000 children between the ages of 10 and 18 are engaged in gainful employment," Professor Bolt estimates, and while it could be shown that the total number employed had been greatly reduced, it is questionable whether the health hazards in the broad significance of that term, have changed appreciably so far as the children exposed are concerned.

The health hazards of child labor in the city and the country are about "fifty-fifty" the doctor believes.

Serious Situation
"We are witnessing at the present time a serious condition in our adolescent girls," Dr. Bolt averred. "While the death rate from tuberculosis has been declining favorably for a number of years, within the past few years, there has been a stationary rate, in some places an advancing rate among our young women from 15 to 20 years of age."

"This may be due to a number of factors, but we must consider over-activity with its attendant fatigue as one of the most important. If this is so with high school girls, what must the condition be with young women engaged in industrial pursuits?" he asks.

LABOR GROUPS WILL CONVEN

Laud Governor Donahoe
For Fairness to Labor:
Miners Discussed

Columbus, Sept. 19.—Thirty-eight resolutions, encompassing a wide range of subjects from condemnation of "canned" music in the talking movies to the cutting of political policy were to come up for debate and action by delegates to the 4th annual convention of the State Federation of Labor here today. The resolutions were read in four sessions of the convention yesterday.

Perhaps the most salient feature of yesterday's meetings was the introduction of a resolution urging relief program to aid Ohio Unemployed Miners "who, in their efforts to maintain the principles of unionism, have felt the pangs of hunger." Other resolutions urged investigation of conditions in the State hospital for epileptics at Gallipolis; policy of supporting "friends" of defeating "enemies" in the coming election; adoption of a four hour working day following adoption of a five-day week as the expression of appreciation, Gov. Donahoe "for his fairness to labor."

Chick Takes Bride

Lake Placid, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Charles E. "Chick" Evans, Jr., a scuffling fame, today was swarmed with congratulations from friends throughout the country on his marriage late yesterday to Miss B. Underwood, of Summit, N. Y., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Underwood. The ceremony was performed in the Lake Placid chapel.

To Receive Bids

Sebring, O., Sept. 19.—Bids on proposed 300,000 gallon standpipes be erected on Quaker Hill this will be opened by the city council noon, Saturday, October 6. Council plans to have work on project started so that it will be completed before cold weather hinders building operations. The standpipe is to be used as an auxiliary reservoir for emergency cases.

Cleveland Police Ra

Cleveland, Sept. 19.—Seventy-two people were under arrest here today as the result of a series of raids by police last night on alleged vice bootlegging resorts in the "Red Third" precinct here. Nine women and 12 men were arrested, charged with various violations, taken into custody for interrogation.

Deputies Fired

Cincinnati, Sept. 19.—Eight deputies in the office of Hamilton county treasurer, Samuel Ach, were fired today as the result of their dismissal by Ach yesterday. Five of the men had been appointed to the office for 13 years. Ach pointed out that the dismissals were in furtherance of a reorganization, tax-saving plan.

Dempsey Predicts Tunney Will Be Back In Squared Circle

Former Champion To Make Better Drawing Card By Actions, Claim

New York, Sept. 19.—Jack Sharkey will not be the next heavyweight champion of the world. Neither will Tommy Loughran nor George Godfrey nor yet Paulino, Risko or Tom Heeney. He will be a fellow by the name of Gene Tunney and the reason I know so much about it is that I know old John Dempsey, the boy friend, broke down pitifully and confessed all today.

It was John's way of saying that he didn't believe Brother Tunney would go in permanently for companionate pedestrianism, daily disclaiming the absolute privacy due a public character and other pleasures of his current tour of European side streets, cleverly disguised as a private citizen. Brother Tunney affirms that he has permanently withdrawn himself from circulation. The world, gallantly playing from the great calamity, is willing to believe him. Dempsey

"Just a hunch," he explained when I wanted to know his reasons, if "Just a hunch but I think it's a good one. Put this down as a premonition for me: Tunney will be back in there fighting again and of course, he will fight as the defending champion. It wouldn't surprise me at all if he came back before the end of the next outdoor season.

"There are only two reasons why a fighter stops fighting. If he thinks he is still good, he fights. If he knows he isn't, he doesn't. Well, Tunney right now is at the top of his form. The other reason is money. If a fighter doesn't think he is going to get what he wants, he walks out on the show and waits for a better break. Tunney is worth as an attraction now than if he hadn't retired."

School to Sponsor Its Annual Reunion

The fifth annual reunion of Township Line school, located on the new East Liverpool-Youngstown road, which will include former teachers, pupils, patrons and friends of the old school will be held at the school house Saturday, Sept. 29.

Mrs. Maurice Chamberlain is secretary-treasurer of the association. A basket picnic will feature the noon hour, and a committee is now engaged in arranging a program for the afternoon.

Receiver Named

John J. Brown of Alliance, as receiver for the Alliance Mausoleum company, has filed suit in common pleas court to recover $775 claimed by the corporation by John H. Schulte of Lisbon. The petition alleges that the company erected a mausoleum in the Lisbon cemetery.

Asks Divorce

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty a decree of divorce has been asked by Jeanette L. McDonald from her husband, Walter B. McDonald.

Action Dismissed

A summary action filed in common pleas court June 28 by Edna Williams against her husband, George W. F. Jones on a motion for judgment and costs paid.

Persons who want anything know

The News is the Want Medium in this vicinity. So read it.

Mount Union Ready For Drive

Alliance, Sept. 19.—"Engineer" John M. Thorpe is all set to throw the throttle on his "big four" wide open for the hard grind that faces the Mount Union college grid team. Thorpe will depend upon the surpassing power and speed in this "four" to carry the Purple team through on schedule. The upper photographs, left to right, are those of his halfback, Glenwright of Alliance and "Tashy" quarterback, Meredith of Painesville. The lower left is Captain Bixler, Louisville, one of the outstanding defensive fullbacks in the Ohio Conference last year, and the lower right is Emerson, Louisville, Thorpe's speed merchant.

This driving combination will start on its long run September 29, at Meadville, Pa., where the Allegheny and Mount elevens clash.

Tortoise Golfer Uses Arm Chair In Game

London, Sept. 19.—Erl Watson, 22-year-old British golfer, is the "tortoise champion" of the royal and ancient game, and no one, except the foursome which trailed him for three weary hours around the course, begrudges him his victory.

The unique contest was staged on the course at St. Andrews, where Bobbie Jones shattered so many records two years ago, and Watson's opponent was Carr Brown, one of the fastest golfers in the country.

Perhaps it was no mere accident that these two were pitted against one another, but a touch of the atrial fibrillation may be forgiven even out on the fairway.

Watson did the first hole in perfect form. The first hole he accomplished in twenty minutes, but he got control of himself on the second and took things easier. That one occupied twenty-five minutes of his time, and the remainder of the course was negotiated at similar speed.

Leisurely Player

Erl Watson is a golfer who believes that golf is a game of leisure, and there is nothing that can hurry him. He goes out on the course equipped with a camp chair, a book, a Sherlock Holmes spy-glass and some say, a spirit level hidden in his golf bag.

He measures each shot with scrupulous care, tamps down with scientific thoroughness the turf for yards around his "lie," and never takes less than fifteen or twenty practice swings. When he finally approaches the ball, there is a session of waggling, perhaps twenty-

League Leaders Gain On Contending Team

A margin of two full games separates the first and second teams in both the American and National Leagues today. The Athletics dropped back a game yesterday by losing to Cleveland while the Yankees outshined the Browns.

Draws Good Crowd

Erl Watson never fails to attract a goodly crowd of spectators whenever he plays, and all their jeering and guffawing has not the slightest effect upon him. Occasionally he lifts his dreamy eyes from the ball and gently chastises the onlookers.

"It is not etiquette," he says, "to annoy golfers when they are playing."

Watson did the St. Andrews in a trifle more than three hours and a half. Brown's average is one hour and three-quarters, but he patiently stuck it out while Watson, occasionally tiring as the result of the strain of his game, took siesta in his ever-ready camp chair.

Crisis In National League Breaks Today

New York, Sept. 19.—"Crisis imminent, patient doing as well as can be expected."

That was Dr. John McGraw's diagnosis of the condition of the New York Giants today as his youthful stars squared off for hand-to-hand fights with their two pennant rivals the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals. The New Yorkers take on the Cubs today while the Cardinals are idle, tackle St. Louis twice tomorrow and play the league leaders again on Saturday. And the chances are that their hash will be cooked unless they take three of the four games.

All three of the leaders won again yesterday. New York remaining two games behind St. Louis and a game and a half in front of Chicago. The Cubs' only chance is to trim the Giants today and then root for the New Yorkers to clean up the Cards.

Meanwhile the roistering, swaggering, staggering Yankees are enjoying an imposing two-game lead over the Athletics in the American League scramble. Hits by Cleveland rookies—a double by Harvel and Tucker's homer—beat Rube Walberg and the Mackmen yesterday, 3 to 2, although the Indians got only five hits in all.

The Yanks resumed their slugging ways and connected for 18 hits by winning a 14 to 11 nightmare from the Browns. New York's Big Four—Helmach, Johnson, Pipgras and Hoyt—were nipped for 14 bingles. They will get a much-needed rest today, both the Yanks and the A's having an off-day.

Jess Haines turned in his seventh straight win as the Cardinals trimmed the Phillies again, 4 to 2, making it 20 wins in 22 starts against the Quakers this season.

Bill Terry's homer in the tenth staked the Giants to a 3 to 2 victory over Pittsburgh. The Giants were deprived of the satisfaction of defeating Burleigh Grimes, their pet jinx, as he was removed for a pinch hitter in the ninth when the Pirates tied the score.

The Cubs massacred the Braves again 8 to 3. Rogers Hornsby got two hits and regained the league batting lead from Paul Waner.

Phil Page, Rookie southpaw obtained by Detroit from Springfield, Mass., pitched the Tigers to an 8 to 5 win over Washington in his first start in the big show.

Cincinnati captured the season's series from Brooklyn, 12 games to 10 by handing the Dodgers a 5 to 2 defeat in the final game.

New York—John Rose Gilden, Greenwich Village poet and bridegroom was a bit mystified. He and Rosalind Stanford were married by a judge. After the ceremony the groom assayed a kiss. The bride demurred, but finally compromised with a peck on the cheek. "I thought they didn't get that way for five years," bemoaned the poet.

Enters School

Keith "Mutt" Roessler, crack Salem High pole vaulter and captain of the 1928 Red and Black track team, left Tuesday for Denison college.

Arrangements for Roessler to go to Denison were completed yesterday when Joe Engelhart, member of the Denison alumni association, visited him and persuaded him to locate there. Charles Roessler, brother to the pole vaulter, stated today.

Roessler recently married Hazel Beck, star Salem High basketball player who graduated with him.

Mutt, and Lowell "Little Rib" Allen, national vault champion, won national recognition in the vault during the last two years in high school and were dubbed Salem's pole vaulting "twins." Roessler was also a letterman in football.

Chris, another member of the Roessler family of Salem athletic fame, will attend Carnegie Tech. Chris, for one year after graduating from high school here went to Iowa State college at Ames, Ia.

WILL DO ALL IT CLAIMS TO DO

Mrs. Steele Says of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pratt, W. Va.—"I was so weak and nervous that I was in bed most all the time and couldn't sit up and I am only 30 years old. I saw your advertisement in a magazine and after I had taken three doses of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could feel that I was better. After taking two bottles I began doing my work and I feel like a new woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and say it will do all it claims to do and more. I will gladly answer all letters I receive."—Mrs. S. E. STEELE, Pratt, W. Va.

Politics will again tonight be the feature of the radio broadcast schedule of the evening. With the Democrats holding the spotlight last night through Al Smith's speech from Omaha through a network of more than 100 stations, tonight William E. Borah, senator from Idaho, will speak in behalf of Herbert Hoover, over the Columbia and Pacific coast chain.

Borah will speak from the Masonic temple in Detroit. His speech will be available to Salem listeners through WADC or WHK.

A new feature, making its first appearance through the NBC network will go on the air at 6:30. This is "Historical Tableaux in Musical Form" and is sponsored by W. S. Quinby Coffee company. WTAM and the rest of the network sends this to Salem sets.

Tonight's program will consist of music of the Old World prior to the discovery of America.

Vincent Lopez and his Casa Lopez orchestra will be on the air at 9:30 through WHK, WADC and the rest of the Columbia network from the Kolster Radio Hour. The Ipana Troubadours are on at 8.

MOVIES

"MYSTERIOUS LADY"

Greta Garbo and Conrad Nagel are the stars in "The Mysterious Lady," the feature photoplay which is at the State tonight.

On the stage are featured Page's Kiddie Band, an orchestral troupe of youngsters ranging from five to 14 years of age.

The feature picture is a thrilling affair relating incidents which occur as a sideline to warfare between nations. It portrays the bloodless but deadly struggle between countries in the dangerous secret spying of one on the other, with Miss Garbo and Nagel playing opposite leading parts as rival spies.

Miss Garbo, a Russian beauty is forced to go to Austria and trap Nagel, a high officer in the Austrian army, steal plans from him, force him to fall in love with her and disgrace him. She disgraces but falls in love with him. Then follow a series of thrilling episodes in which the lives of both are threatened and a thrilling climax.

"TOPSY AND EVA"

The Duncan sisters, Rosetta and Vivian prove equally as good on the screen as on the stage, in their great stage success, "Topsy and Eva" adapted for photoplay. This picture closes at the Grand tonight.

The picture is an impressive tale of the love of a young white girl for a colored girl, with a will over which troubles arise, bringing in added complications. Topsy, the colored lass is taken away from Eva and Eva, who has a weak heart, collapses and is expected to die. Topsy, though, escapes, and incidentally, recovers the will which was stolen from her friends, returns, and proves the heroine by saving the life of her white girl friend.

On the stage is "These Women" by the Salem Studio players.

Paris, Sept. 19.—Hats will be bonnets this winter, judging from the newest headgear, coming from the chic French modistes. They are putting the tight little skull caps and helmets completely out of business for they do aim to make women look sweet and pretty and that is what everyone is after this season.

The smart winter bonnet takes much of its inspiration from the little one every baby wears, with frills of lace and tiny poeas. Some of them in velvet and lame have charming puffs of ostrich around the face and ties under the chin to give a most youthful appearance.

Poke-bonnets have a modern twist and are so supple and light that any woman will rejoice to wear one, not to mention the fact that they are very flattering to almost every visage. One comes in black satin laid in folds across the head and is very much wider on the right side than on the left where it barely hides the ear. A flat bow of satin ribbon is placed across the back of the bonnet and it is faced with shaded grey ostrich.

A very smart Reboux bonnet comes in extremely soft turquoise blue felt with a shallow crown and a brim cut to points that lay over the cheeks. The trimming is a wide blond satin ribbon tied in a drooping bow on the right side.

Plated green velvet makes a cunning little bonnet trimmed with quills of black velvet dotted in greens.

Agnes makes a kind of beret bonnet very similar to the original Basque model in black satin faced grey ostrich.

A felt bonnet with head-band of grass grain is an ideal coiffure for the motor-trip. It is supple and not too tight about the head and comes in two tones or even three.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

We welcome oysters back to the menu with warmth. The oyster has become such a food necessity that its forced retirement in R-less months is quite a deprivation. Easily cooked, supplied with the needed vitamins, it may be used as a meat substitute on occasion, readily digested in most all cases, inexpensive and without waste, the oyster deserves our careful consideration. Food authorities agree that we should eat at least one food raw a day. This brings the oyster, also the clam, into prominence where it can alternate with soup as a dinner adjunct.

Oyster Cocktail

Serve the oysters on the half shell well cooled. Garnish with narrowly quartered lemon, and an olive curl spread with anchovy paste and placed on two of the oysters. In the center fill the cocktail glasses with the following sauce: Two tablespoonsful of tomato catsup, the juice of a small lemon, a few drops of onion juice, two tablespoonsful of taragon vinegar, a teaspoonful of cider vinegar, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a half teaspoonful of salt, the same of cayenne, half a teaspoonful of sugar, and a few grains of celery salt. Chill and settle down into the cracked ice in the center of the oysters.

Chicken and Oysters Maistro

Boil a young, tender chicken and when cold dice two cupfuls of the white meat. Drain a dozen and a half of large oysters, head the liquor and when hot drop in the oysters and cook two minutes until the beards curl, then drain. Have ready a rich cream sauce well seasoned, add the chicken and a teaspoonful of onion juice or a minced shallot. When hot add the oysters and a teaspoonful of minced white celery leaves. Serve in a hot dish garnished with toast sippets and sprays of fresh parsley. Serve at once hot.

Oyster Fricassee

Drain three dozen oysters, heat the liquor and when hot drop in the oysters and cook until the beards curl, then drain, saving the liquor. Place the oysters on slices of buttered, crustless toast arranged on a hot dish. Pour the liquor into a saucepan and add to it a half cupful of rich milk, pepper and salt. Melt a heaping tablespoonful of butter and add to it two tablespoon-

BOOK TELLS OF CHILD DIRECTION

"The Young Child" Now Available At Salem Library

To say that Donald was an unruly child is to put the matter mildly. During his first days in an Iowa City pre-school group, he almost caused a panic. He banged the building blocks around, struck at the other children if they came near him, and ran away from any teacher who started to make a request of him and then laughed or shouted at her in defiance.

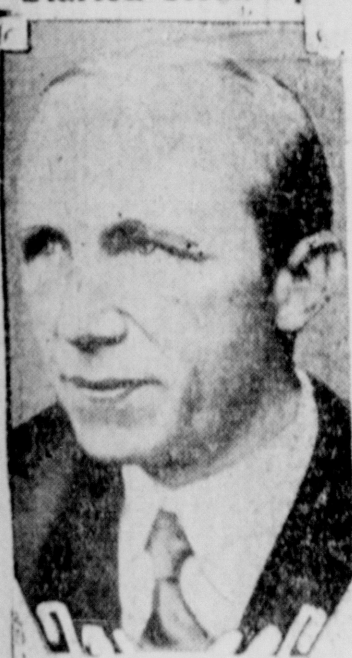

Awakening
Donald had an awakening. At home he had had few playthings or interests to challenge and steady his efforts and no companions of his own age. At the pre-school he discovered that it was as much fun to use his energies in pounding a nail as in pounding another child or the piano; in fact, pounding the nail had the added advantage of being a step in "making something." He found that climbing the ladders and pulling others in the express wagon were more interesting activities than running from the teachers, especially after realizing that they turned their backs on him every time he ran away.

Author is Director
Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, for ten years director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station where young children are studied and helped by means of the pre-schools, gave many a child like Donald his first lesson in getting along with a new and apparently contrary world, and many a teacher and parent a conception of the mysterious workings of a child's body and mind.

Deals With Problems
Just before his untimely death, Dr. Baldwin prepared a reading course on "The Young Child" for parents and teachers, which has recently been published by the American Library association. In it he deals with the everyday problems confronting most parents of young children, such as physical and mental needs, play, habit, emotions, etc., and he suggests for further reading a few practical books which will help to prepare the child for an active, useful and happy life.

"The Young Child" is one of the reading with a purpose series, which now consists of 39 reading courses on a variety of subjects. These and the books recommended in each will be found at the Salem Library.

Started Clean-Up

Judge Edwin O. Lewis, of Philadelphia, who is responsible for grand jury probe into bootlegging and alleged collusion on part of police in City of Brotherly Love. The inquiry has already resulted in biggest cleanup in city's history.

LEETONIA

The funeral of Mrs. Cornelia Frances Peppel who passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. Frank Martin, on Friday, was held Monday afternoon at the Crowell and Woods funeral parlors on Front street. A large number of friends of Mrs. Peppel and Mrs. Martin were present.

The Rev. Dr. H. C. Brillhart, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, was in charge of the service. Burial was made in Oakdale cemetery. The funeral party returned to Cleveland in the evening.

A large company, many of them employees of the street car companies, attended a baseball game played on Sunday at Five Points on the North Lima-Poland road, between the employees of the Y & S and the Y & O Electric street railroads. The score was 14-21 in favor of the Y & S. The members of the team say the game was won by the special playing of Orville Chellis at his post in center field.

Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Mellinger were in Warren on Sunday where Mr. Mellinger gave an address at a special service at the Lutheran church there. Mrs. Lydia Weaver is visiting for a time in the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Ferguson of Warren. Mrs. Emily Spink of Alliance is visiting in the home of her cousins Mr. and Mrs. John Peet. Ralph Olett was a business caller in Columbiana on Monday. Henry Stales of Columbiana was a Leetonia business caller on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holt, sons Eldon and Jack motored to Columbus this week where they placed little Jack in the school for the deaf. Mrs. Charles Dunlap, and daughter Miss Lucile, of Cairo Ill., are visiting here with relatives. Miss Josephine Bingham has accepted a position as teacher in the New Waterford schools. Mrs. J. T. Smith, of Cleveland, who was visiting here with her sister, Mrs. H. D. Arnold, for some time, and has been ill for a time, was taken to the Salem City Hospital on Monday for medical treatment. Mr. Smith and son James were here over the week end and have returned to their home in Cleveland.
